

First Grade Tiger Cub Tales

October 29, 2007

Language Arts/Social Studies:

This week we will be discussing the four seasons of the year.

Scarecrows come to mind in the fall as they watch over the farmer's crops. This character will help us to learn a bout writing our own stories using a character, setting and a problem.

We will be learning about a pumpkin and compare the similarities and differences with a watermelon. We will also talk about how pumpkins are a system that is made up of parts.

Spelling:

This is a review week for short u and short o following the same CVC Consonant/Vowel/Consonant rule.

Remember to practice the sentence of the week with your child for Friday's test stressing capital letter at the beginning of the sentence and a period at the end.

Math:

Subtraction is our unit of study this week. The students will demonstrate the basic subtraction concept using manipulatives and games.
